Technology

Our Technology Services focus on assisting organizations in implementation of new or existing software to optimize your return on investment. Purchasing a new software without complete custom integration into your entire teams' daily activities not only wastes money and company time, but it also results in users being frustrated and lacking confidence in the system.

Our technology services include;

- Mapping new processes to integrate software
- Developing strategies to assist team members in incorporating new tasks
- Follow-up and troubleshooting issues with software teams
- Verification & Validation Service to ensure effective and continuous improvement

Managed Services

With the complexity of procurement these days, organizations tend to create requests for proposals that require a wide range of skills and expertise. The best service comes from service providers who choose to focus on their core strengths and outsource certain business processes.

If you choose to go that route, Trestle is able to collaborate on submissions with strengths in the following areas:

- Process mapping and change solutions
- Resource Management
- System or Social Solution Research
- Interim Leadership Services
- Local Government and Governance expertise
